Introduction. Nowadays flying tickets are expensive and visa is hard to be made. So it would be smart to change this situation. And I have an idea.

Materials and methods. I suggest making private flights for hotels under the name of hotel. Which can take guests which are coming from other countries. It would be cheaper for guests. And hotel would have more guests and it would be a great advertisement for the hotel to have its name on a plane. And hotels also can be responsible for visas of their guests. It would make it much easier to the guest, instead of going to embassy and requesting the visa and waiting days and weeks to get it, and also he/she may not get it.

Results. In simple embassy visa which makes by 1 week costs for example 200 dollars and in these hotels it would cost 150 dollars because of bigger amount of people. And the same situation with plains. 1 ticket from France to Ukraine cost 7000 UAH in airport, but hotel flights cost 6000 UAH.

What is visa?[1]

Essentially, a travel visa is a document that shows you're allowed to enter a specific country, for a specific length of time, to do a specific thing such as tour or study or work. Unless they submit a waiver, our government requires visitors from other countries to get a visa before visiting another country.

When hunting for visa applications online, you'll want to start at the embassy or consulate website for the nation you're visiting. Typically, you'll fill out visa application forms online, print and mail them in, or hand deliver them to the nation's local consulate.

What will it cost?

You'll usually have to send a money order or check along with your visa application. Typical visas range in cost from $50 to $200. For example, a Brazilian visa costs $160, and an Indian visa costs $76, barring additional fees.

Can I make the process faster?

If you're in a pinch, there are agencies that will fill out paperwork and secure a visa for you at lightening speed— sometimes even overnight. Service fees are about $100 to $300 per visa, but if you're in a hustle or overwhelmed with documents, they may be worth it.

After processing your documents, the consulate will mail you a visa that attaches into your passport. On average, the process takes anywhere from two weeks to two months.

Conclusion. Buying a lot of visas for more than 1 guest can make a deal between hotel and embassy and make prices lower.
